Kitchen and bathroom effects in this issue, recreated by Ariadne Fletcher

1 The kitchen in Isabel and Julian Bannerman's Somerset barn may have been built for function but it doesn't skimp on colour (page 146). We'll let you into a secret: Francesca's Paints' 'Yellow Peppers' (£57.61 per 2.5 litres) is the shade of emulsion on those sunny walls. Ring 020 7228 7694, or visit francescaspaint.com.

2 Chic and not too shabby, the Bannermans keep it classic, right down to their absorbing choice of textiles (page 146). Clean up with similar vintage linen tea towels from Parna (£14). Visit parna.co.uk.

3 Enamelware doesn't just serve a practical purpose in the Somerset kitchen (page 148); it's also used for decorative detail too. These hand-finished bowls by Dyke & Dean (£16) are so charming they could make doing the dishes a joy rather than a chore. Almost. Ring 01424 429202, or visit dykeanddean.com.

4 Mosaic it to make it: did your eyes swim with wonder on seeing those Aegean-blue Art Deco bathrooms by Isidore Odorico in Angers (page 140)? Perhaps we can tempt you to take the plunge with Bisazza's equally inviting 'Aurora' blend in glass and 24ct gold (from £269 per sq m). Ring 020 7584 8837, or visit bisazza.com.

5 Why not shower yourselves in gold just like the avant-gardistes of late 1920s Angers (page 144) with these shimmering tesserae by Pierre Mesguich (from £1,500 per sq m). Ring 07714 721693, or visit mesguichmosaik.co.uk.

6 Confucius says it's a wise man who commissions David Wiseman to conjure a fantastical powder room, as in the Nicole Hollis interior in California (page 151). Mirror that magic with one of the designer's bespoke looking-glasses. Handmade, they are inspired by nature and indisputably museum-worthy – a fact reflected in the $85,000 price tag. Visit dwiseman.com.

7 Suds law: for a slice of that powder-room palette (page 150) cast your eyes at Amara's 'Stoned' marble soap dish (£33). Ring 0800 587 7645, or visit amara.com ■
