

PAIN T PALETTE S

When it comes to paint, walls are literally a blank canvas! Freshly painted walls are a sure-fire way to rejuvenate any room within your home. The colour choice that surrounds will play a big role in your daily mood, so be sure to carefully consider the tone you wish to set before you finalise your colour scheme. Whatever room you're decorating, there are a range of tones and shades to suit your interior palette.

MELLOW YELLOW

A fresh coat of yellow paint can make any space feel instantly lighter and brighter. An uplifting shade like the one featured above blends olive hues and undertones of warming yellow, and the results are breathtaking. Yellow is the perfect choice for someone wishing to add a quiet but inviting atmosphere into their home. Alternatively, if you want to introduce a little edge to your yellow space, try coupling the palette with black paint or black-bronze.

Pictured here: Quince by Neptune, £48/€62 for 2.5 litres

ANCHORED IN NATURE

Inspired by the greens of the garden, moss green paint is a great way to update your home this season. Moss green is a relaxing colour, one that is anchored in nature, and one that promotes a sense of comfort and rejuvenation. Moss hues compliment period properties wonderfully well but can also add an earthy feel to more modern spaces.

Pale shades of moss green look radiant when paired with darker accessories, such as soft furnishings in shades of ivy or olive. Pictured here: Moss Green by Francesca's Paints, £35/€42 for 1 litre