What the experts say...

Designers and stylists share their views

'Nothing says warm and inviting like caramel. It's a versatile colour that bathes rooms in luxurious warmth. It works perfectly in living rooms to create a Scandinavian-inspired look. For a classic combination, pair it with a soft, creamy off-white.'

HELEN SHAW, DIRECTOR OF MARKETING,
BENJAMIN MOORE

'Caramel hues are a brilliant choice where you want to inject warmth, such as in north-facing spaces that feel a little cold from lack of sunlight. Combine with tonal neutrals with yellow base or add impact and energy with a wall in earthy red.'

RUTH MOTTERSHEAD, CREATIVE DIRECTOR,
LITTLE GREENE

'Made with yellow ochre, burnt and raw umber, and a touch of red, caramel is a luminous tone ideal for living areas and hallways because it radiates light without being too yellow or bright.'

FRANCESCA WEZEL,
FOUNDER, FRANCESCA'S PAINTS

'As a neutral with a bit more character, caramel is incredibly useful as it will co-ordinate with pretty much every colour, in both a light or a dark shade.'

EDWARD BULMER, FOUNDER,
EDWARD BULMER NATURAL PAINT

'Caramel is melt-in-the-mouth and irresistible, a colour we can trust to work alongside all other shades. We see it naturally in wood, stone, fleece and leather - the raw ingredients of our homes.'

MARIANNE SHILLINGFORD,
CREATIVE DIRECTOR, DULUX

'Similar to neutral nude or beige but slightly richer, caramel looks especially good with off-white, grey, orange, brown and blush pink. Try it with black accents, on coffee tables or picture frames.'
