The interiors whizzkid wants Santa to pack some steel skeleton chairs into his sack

1. FRANCESCA'S PAINTS Eco emulsion paint, £35 per litre (francescapaint.com)

The best paints in the UK — there you go, I've said it. I'm like Anna Ryder Richardson on Changing Rooms opening up tins of paint.

2. HERMÈS Sellier change tray, £550 (hermes.com)

I totally adore this Hermès silver change tray — so damn chic.

3. AARKE kettle, £200, at divertimenti.co.uk

I was lucky enough to get a preview of this sexy kettle. It's the quietest and it looks the bee's knees.

4. JERMAINE GALLACHER Diabolo stool, £800 (jermainegallacher.com)

Excuse me for flogging my own products. But let's face it, I'd be over the moon to unwrap one of these.

5. BARNABY LEWIS Skeleton chair, POA (@barnabymakes)

Anything by Barnaby would be a dream come true, but getting this chair would make my whole year!

6. JAMB Large Batsford dish light, POA (jamb.co.uk)

This is simply the most handsome of lights. Understated and refined — what a dish!

7. MIRANDA KEYES hand blown liqueur glass, £145, at jermainegallacher.com

Miranda makes each unique glass with her own fair hands at her Bermondsey studio. I can't think of any other glassware I'd rather have on my table this Christmas.

8. LANT STREET WINE house red, £10 (lantstreetwine.com)

Can't go wrong with a good bottle of red. In my humble opinion this is the perfect table wine (and the label is designed by yours truly).

9. CARTIER SolarBeat Tank watch, £3,300 (cartier.com)

Let's face it, who doesn't want a Cartier watch for Christmas? I love the blue beaded crown.

10. JERMAINE GALLACHER Triangle cushion, £260 (jermainegallacher.com)

Go on... let me have one last one. I'm pretty chuffed with these in my debut fabric, The JG Razor Wiggle. They're a right bit of me.
